SIGNORA ROSSETTI SPEAKS.

Signora Oliva Rossetti Agresti of Rome, Italy, spoke last evening before an enthusiastic audience composed of members of the Association of Collegiate Alumnae and the local Vassar Association in the A. C. A. Clubhouse, 1607 H street N. W. Signora Agresti, who is the niece of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, gave an illustrated talk on "The Contribution of the Rossettis and the Pre-Raphaelite Movement in England to the Life of sidelights in the course of a lecture in which she outlined the development of one of the most remarkable reform efforts ever recorded in the history of art. Reared in England where her father, a famous author and critic. was closely associated with the mem-bers of the little coterie that preach-ed a return to simplicity and sincerity in a day of Victorian artificiality, Signora Rosetti holds the family traditions and retains the intimate household memories that bring the famous figures of the nineteenth century close to the people of today. After the lecture at which Mrs.

Philip N. Moore introduced the distinguished visitor, there was an informal reception. Signora Agresti was the guest of honor yesterday at a luncheon at the Capitol given by Senator Arthur Cap-There were fourteen guests. members of the Senate committee on
